

Kansas-Missouri International Dyslexia Association (KS-MO IDA)

Student Scholarship Guidelines

Revised: May 2020

Goals of the Scholarship Program: Students with dyslexia/language based learning disabilities often fall behind their peers at school in reading - not just because they have difficulty decoding, but also because they cannot access the material in books the same way as their peers without dyslexia. To help close that gap and to help level the playing field, the Kansas-Missouri branch of the International Dyslexia Association is providing reimbursement scholarships for privately purchased student Learning Ally subscriptions. Learning Ally accounts allow students with dyslexia/specific learning disabilities in reading or reading comprehension to access audiobooks that also have a visual component to them, which can help both auditory and visual learners.

We understand the many expenses that are incurred in order to obtain appropriate, evidence-based remediation for dyslexia. These scholarships are intended to help offset the many costs affecting families by providing students access to audiobooks. Providing these scholarships helps the KS-MO bistate branch of IDA fulfill its mission: to create a better learning environment for students with dyslexia by promoting teacher training, parent support, and student empowerment. We take our lead from the International Dyslexia Association, whose motto is "Until All Can Read."
